Accountability Project

A voting summary for the Maryland General Assembly

Introduction

I began the monologue Accountability Project in 2008 as the successor to an earlier effort called the Maryland Accountability Project. It graded all 188 members of the General Assembly on whether they voted in what the author considered a conservative manner or not. Since the creator of the project moved on to other things I took up the baton, with my first year's work incorporating three sessions: the 2007 Regular Session, the 2007 Special Session, and the 2008 Regular Session. I continued the project for the entire 2007-10 electoral term and begin anew with the 2011 session.

Over the last three years, though, I have streamlined the project to some extent: standardizing the number of bills covered to 22, adding three committee votes to the mix (to get 25 total votes, making math much easier) and integrating any Special Sessions into the overall summary for the year. While the 2007 Special Session was an example of one where many key votes were taken, those since have only featured one or two key votes and could easily be folded into an overall summary for the year. With no Special Session anticipated for 2013, I feel confident that a summer release is appropriate.

One big change for the 2013 version was re-ordering the legislators by alphabetical order rather than by district. Because many Marylanders probably are unaware about the district they now reside in – but can hopefully recall who represents them – the change is being made now in preparation for the 2014 elections.

It's also worth noting that two Delegates (Darren Swain of District 24 and Alonzo Washington of District 22) came on board for 2013; meanwhile Delegate Nina Harper was sworn in to replace the late Delegate Hattie Harrison on February 27. Harper was involved in all 25 key votes for the Project, as Harrison died in late January.

As of press time, we know in 2014 we will have at least one new Senator as District 15 Senator Rob Garagiola announced his resignation. If a Delegate is elevated, that creates yet another opening in the House. Several other members of the General Assembly have also announced their intent to retire or seek other offices; next year's project will account for those decisions.

The method to my madness

The next portion of the monologue Accountability Project explains why votes are tabulated as they are.

The first few pages will cover the bills I used for this year's monologue Accountability Project and the rationale for my determining whether a vote is "right" or "wrong." 25 votes from each body (House of Delegates and Senate) are tallied, with 22 of them being floor votes and 3 votes coming from the committee on which a legislator serves. With a perfect possible score of 100 for getting all 25 votes correct, a correct vote is worth four points and an incorrect vote is worth none.

I also have a policy where I deduct points for being absent or ducking a vote. Since absences can't always be helped, the absentee is only docked one point for each. Those who are present and don't vote, however, have two points deducted. An absentee listed in the roll as "excused" receives no deduction.

On that note, since some committee chairs have a policy of not voting while the Speaker of the House and Senate President do not participate in any committee, their lack of a vote is considered as excused and they are not penalized.

There is also a policy in the House where a member can change his or her vote. If a member changes a vote from an incorrect vote to a correct vote, they get half-credit, or two points. Going the other way is docked at 1.5 times the value of the vote, or six points.

I consider myself a conservative with libertarian leanings so it's no surprise that Republicans in the General Assembly generally score higher than Democrats – although there are a few exceptions.

In this upcoming portion I will go through each of the votes I used, though it's worth noting the House and Senate occasionally voted on bills that were crossfiled. An example of crossfiling: in the 2013 session House Bill 804 (or HB804) and Senate Bill 784 (or SB784) are bills which essentially mirror each other, with one being introduced for consideration in each body. This year I used the same bills for each body, although they may be crossfiled versions, and featured the latest vote – if the House voted on its bill March 25 and the Senate bill April 2, I scored the bill based on the Senate bill vote. Thus, there were a few instances where I used a Senate bill vote for the House tally and vice versa.

Another departure from the earlier days of the mAP is that I no longer use votes on floor amendments. This is so the records are based mainly on legislation common to both bodies, with just the handful of committee votes making up the difference.

One other change this year: the lead sponsor is included in the bill description. In some cases, the bill is officially introduced to the chamber by the Speaker of the House or Senate President at the request of the Governor's Administration or a branch thereof. Committee heads also can introduce legislation at the behest of a particular department.

I also follow up on the current status of each measure. Unfortunately, most of these are now laws saddling the Maryland public with more unneeded taxes, fees, and regulations.

Floor votes used for the monologue Accountability Project

HB100: Budget Bill (Fiscal Year 2014) (Speaker, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: Yet again our not-so-illustrious governor, Martin O'Malley, sent down a bloated budget loaded with phantom cuts of his own imagination. In reality, overall spending increased for the seventh consecutive year, up to $37.3 billion. By comparison, Bob Ehrlich's last budget in 2006 was $29 billion. Are we getting more bang for the $8 billion? I say no.

Disposition: HB100 passed the House 103-36 and the Senate 37-8. By law, once adopted by both bodies the budget is put in place without the Governor's signature.

HB101: Creation of a State Debt: Maryland Consolidated Capital Bond Loan of 2013, and the Maryland Consolidated Capital Bond Loans of 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, and 2012 (Speaker, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: A state which continues to struggle with a structural deficit shouldn't be selling more bonds. Eventually this will lead to higher property taxes down the road, as capital projects formerly paid for by cash are now on the state's credit card.

Disposition: HB101 passed the House 100-31 and the Senate 47-0, and was signed by Governor O'Malley May 16. Because budget bills are among the state's most important, I used the Senate vote despite the fact it was unanimous, a subject I'll return to in my final summary.

HB102: Budget Reconciliation and Financing Act of 2013
(Speaker, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: People should just call this the “oops” bill – oops, we spent too much money so we'll have to raid funds and raise taxes and fees. Maybe someday the reconciliation will result in a refund to hard-working Maryland taxpayers, but I'm not holding my breath for that to occur with the crew in charge of Annapolis right now.

Disposition: HB102 passed the House 103-36, the Senate 39-6, and was signed into law May 16 by Governor O'Malley.

HB196: Election Law – Special Elections – Voting by Mail (Delegate Cardin)

Why I'd vote no: I get that turnout in special elections is abysmally low. But I'm very leery of the idea of sending out ballots to all registered voters when the voting rolls are not culled regularly to eliminate those who have moved or passed on. With absentee ballots and early voting, there's more than enough opportunity for those interested to make a choice.

Disposition: HB196 passed the House 95-44, the Senate 38-6, and was signed into law May 2 by Governor O'Malley. Let the voter fraud begin.

HB224: Election Law – Improving Access to Voting (Speaker, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: Again, the people who care and are informed voters would already be registered. This bill is an invitation to go out and cast several ballots at a time by taking a tour of the early voting centers (which are also more numerous thanks to this bill.) There was nothing wrong with the old system since the media bombards you with the message that the voter registration deadline is approaching.

Disposition: HB224 passed the House 99-40 and the Senate 36-11. It was signed into law May 2 by Governor O'Malley.

HB226: Maryland Offshore Wind Act of 2013 (Speaker, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: At the (supposed) cost of a couple dollars a month per ratepayer, we're expecting utilities to sink billions of dollars of investment to get “free” power which costs more to produce per kilowatt-hour than land-based windmills? That, friends, is a boondoggle waiting to happen. Better to cash in on the Marcellus Shale.

Disposition: HB226 passed the House 88-48 and the Senate 30-15, and was signed into law April 9 by Governor O'Malley. In a hurry to hose ratepayers once again, Governor?

HB228: Maryland Health Progress Act of 2013 (Speaker, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: Obamacare comes to Maryland. No, thank you. Real health progress would be government backing out of the market.

Disposition: HB228 passed the House 93-43 and Senate 36-11, and was signed by Governor O'Malley May 2. Now Maryland's budget will be dependent on the federal government for another billion dollars a year.

HB360: Health Insurance – Repeal of Obsolete Provisions of Law (Chair, Health and Government Operations Committee by request of Department of Insurance Administration)

Why I'd vote no: Most of these provisions are only “obsolete” because of Obamacare's overreach. Some should be stricken but others should remain.

Disposition: HB360 passed the House 97-40 and Senate 40-7 before being signed by Governor O'Malley on April 9. He wasn't in a hurry, was he?

HB361: Health Insurance – Conformity with and Implementation of Federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Chair, Health and Government Operations Committee by request of Department of Insurance Administration)

Why I'd vote no: We should neither conform with nor implement this piece of crap. I stand for its wholesale repeal.

Disposition: HB361 passed the House 86-37 and Senate 37-10. Our lives were signed away by Governor O'Malley on May 2. I'm surprised it took that long.

HB706: Natural Resources – Forest Preservation Act of 2013 (Chair, Environmental Matters Committee by request of Department of Natural Resources)

Why I'd vote no: What bothers me most is the idea of maintaining 40 percent forest cover in the state. That seems arbitrary to me. I also worry about overzealous enforcement of the law regarding burning brush on one's own property.

Disposition: HB706 passed the House 107-27 and Senate 43-1 before being signed into law by Governor O'Malley May 2.

HB753: Motor Vehicles – Use of Wireless Communication Device – Prohibited Acts, Enforcement, and Penalties (Delegate Malone)

Why I'd vote no: As I predicted some time ago, this bill makes talking on a cell phone a primary offense, meaning you can now be pulled over simply for that act. It also increases the fines for each offense, so look for enhanced enforcement by a revenue-thirsty state. Meanwhile, law enforcement officers – who I regularly see chatting on their hand-held phones – remain exempt. The nanny state continues apace.

Disposition: HB753 passed the House 110-28 and the Senate 40-5. Governor O'Malley signed it May 16.

HB804/SB784: Employment Discrimination – Reasonable Accommodations for Disabilities due to Pregnancy (Delegate Hucker/Senator Benson)

Why I'd vote no: The death of common sense continues. If an employer wants to maintain the services of a valued employee, I would think this would be standard practice without the law. This seems to me an invitation to litigation, and perhaps another reason to bypass hiring a qualified woman of childbearing age – that is, until that quota is placed into effect.

Disposition: HB804 passed the Senate 33-13 on March 30 and SB784 cleared the House 124-8 April 1 (no joke) as the final votes from those respective chambers. Both were signed into law by Governor O'Malley May 16.

HB860: Baltimore City Public Schools Construction and Revitalization Act of 2013 (Baltimore City Delegation)

Why I'd vote no: Normally I don't deal with legislation affecting just one jurisdiction, but this one is different.

This sets a precedent for the Maryland Stadium Authority to issue bonds for school construction in the city of Baltimore, to be repaid via a combination of funds including those intended for sports facilities. It continues the function of the MSA as a catch-all for various construction projects not necessarily related to sports. Just wait until other local governments figure out how to get their mitts into this pile of money being created. If the MSA is done building the facilities for which it was created (and benefiting the private owners of those teams which are tenants) then it should be abolished.

Disposition: HB860 passed the House 102-30 and the Senate 40-7 before being signed into law by Governor O'Malley May 16.

HB863: Higher Education Fair Share Act (Speaker, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: Placing his nose even more firmly inside the backside of Maryland's Big Labor, this bill mandates that those employees of Maryland institutions of higher education who choose not to be members of the union still have to pay them. In the case of AFSCME, which represents a number of state employees in various categories already subject to this law, the cost to employees is about $360 a year. I could think of much better uses for 30 bucks a month, like paying the higher taxes and tolls put in place by the state.

Disposition: HB863 passed the House 94-42 and the Senate 35-12. However, this version was vetoed as duplicative by Governor O'Malley; he instead signed the crossfiled SB841 on May 16.

HB1130/SB758: Labor and Employment – Lien for Unpaid Wages – Establishment (Delegate Barnes/Senator Ramirez)

Why I'd vote no: My biggest problem with this bill is the authorization for the state to intercede on behalf of an employee. There were only a handful of these cases last year but I would expect many more in coming years.

Disposition: HB1130 passed the Senate 37-8 April 2 and the House passed SB758 104-32 on the same day. Governor O'Malley signed both into law on May 16.

HB1279: Statewide Building Codes – Maryland Accessibility Code – Enforcement (Delegate Niemann)

Why I'd vote no: Having dealt with clients who are targeted by professional ADA litigators in the past, this is yet another license to sue.

Disposition: HB1279 passed the House 97-42 and the Senate 31-15. Once the bill was signed by Governor O'Malley May 2, trial lawyers marked October 1 on their calendars.

HB1515: Transportation Infrastructure Investment Act of 2013 (Speaker, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: Truth in advertising would have dubbed this the Gas Tax Increase Act of Forever, since that's what it amounts to. Not only does it add gasoline to the list of items due a sales tax, but pegs the actual tax to inflation so they need not be blamed for future increases. All for a couple superfluous rail lines. Remember, "investment" = big-bucks spending. No one ever invests in taxpayers.

Disposition: This was one of the few nailbiters in this session, passing the House only by a 76-63 margin and Senate 27-20. But it still got Martin O'Malley's signature on May 16.

SB276: Death Penalty Repeal – Substitution of Life Without the Possibility of Parole (President, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: Whether it's used or not, the death penalty should have stayed on the books. The recidivism rate is zero and restrictions placed on the practice some years ago made it almost impossible to execute the innocent. Prison guards and workers beware, as well as taxpayers who now get to provide three hots and a cot for the rest of these scofflaws' lives.

Disposition: SB276 passed the Senate 27-20 and the House 82-56 before being signed into law by Governor O'Malley May 2. A referendum effort for this law fell short of a May 31 signature threshold, so the bill stands.

SB281: Firearm Safety Act of 2013 (President, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: This was yet another misnamed bill – not about firearm safety, but about laying the groundwork for confiscation. Maybe it should have been named the Criminal Safety Act of 2013 since that would be more appropriate. The only criminals harmed by the act would be the otherwise law-abiding.

Disposition: SB281 passed in the Senate 28-19 and the House 78-61 before being signed into law by Governor O'Malley May 16. A referendum effort got a late start and failed to meet the May 31 signature deadline; however, opponents have vowed to fight this law in court and local law enforcement has pledged not to enforce the most egregious portions of this measure.

SB422: Public School Employees – Collective Bargaining – Representation Fees (Senator Pugh)

Why I'd vote no: This is very similar to HB863, but affects employees in all the state's 24 city/county school districts rather than just a select few which previously were saddled with this regulation.

Disposition: SB422 passed the Senate 34-13 and the House 99-41 before being signed by Governor O'Malley May 2.

SB715: Maryland Highway Safety Act of 2013 (Senator Ramirez)

Why I'd vote no: It's not about highway safety, it's about giving drivers licenses to illegal aliens. Welcome to the sanctuary state of Maryland.

Disposition: SB715 passed the Senate 29-18 and the House 82-55 before being signed into law by Governor O'Malley May 2. So come next January, once the national amnesty bill is passed and this bill takes effect, Maryland will be a destination of choice for illegals.

SB829: Transportation Trust Fund – Use of Funds (Senator Miller)

Why I'd vote no: The idea is good. The three-fifths majority required to implement it is pathetic. With 98 Democrats in the House and 35 in the Senate, I'd hold out for at least a $\frac{3}{4}$ majority – otherwise these could pass with 13 House Democrats and 6 Senate Democrats to spare. A $\frac{3}{4}$ majority makes it almost certain bipartisan support would be required (106 Delegates and 36 Senators.)

Disposition: SB829 passed the Senate 40-7 and passed the House 108-30 – both of which indeed had $\frac{3}{4}$ support. However, it will need support from the voters in November 2014 as it was passed as a proposed Constitutional Amendment. Assuming this will be Issue 1 as it was the only such measure to pass this year, I urge a vote against it.

House Committee votes used for the monologue Accountability Project

Note: Unless otherwise noted, all of these bills failed to advance out of committee. A “favorable” motion is for the bill to proceed, while an “unfavorable” motion is to stop consideration.

HB30: Gaming – Video Lottery Terminals – Repeal of Constitutional Amendment – Changes to Statutory Provisions (Delegate Smigiel)

Committee: Ways and Means

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: Delegate Smigiel was attempting to undo what should have never been done – enshrine gambling in our state Constitution in terms of needing a vote of the people to change regulations. This is a job more properly (and adroitly) handled by the General Assembly.

HB44: Environment – Maryland Clean Water Fund – Uses (Delegate Vitale)

Committee: Environmental Matters

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: This law would have compelled the Maryland Department of the Environment to spend money collected via fines on the area affected.

HB73: Presidential Elections – Agreement Among the States to Elect the President by National Popular Vote – Repeal

Committee: Ways and Means

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: This was a bad idea to begin with, so it should be killed. The entire idea of national popular vote to elect the President is sour grapes from the 2000 election because Democrats lost despite having more popular votes for Al Gore. If the nation ever decided to go in that direction, anywhere outside of major media and population centers would be ignored in the Presidential election.

HB106: Sustainable Growth and Agricultural Preservation Act of 2012 – Repeal (Delegate McDermott)

Committee: Environmental Matters

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: This was another bad law which should have never been passed, based on its wresting control from local zoning boards and curtailing needed development. If you don't grow, you die.

HB150: Vehicle Laws – Accidents Resulting in Death or Life-Threatening Injury – Mandatory Drug and Alcohol Testing (Kara's Law) (Delegate Kipke)

Committee: Judiciary

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote yes: Just because I'm driving doesn't mean I give consent to a drug or blood test if I'm involved in an accident. We have Constitutional protections for a reason. This is one bill where I went against most Republicans.

HB165: Elementary and Secondary Education – Security – School Resource Officers (Delegate Cluster)

Committee: Ways and Means

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: I'm a little leery of having police officers in schools because it's softening up these children for a police state, but until crime is under control we need this law.

HB219: Criminal Procedure – No-Knock Search Warrants – Prior Notification of County (Delegate Parrott)

Committee: Judiciary

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: Basically it should be common courtesy for this notice to be given, but apparently our federal government doesn't always follow this. Thus the idea for the law.

HB239: Full Pension Funding Act (Delegate Kipke)

Committee: Appropriations

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: It's a beginning to solve the pension problem, but the overall goal should be to move public employees from defined-benefit to defined-contribution like the rest of us.

HB252: State Development Plan – Repeal (Delegate Smigiel)

Committee: Environmental Matters

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: Counties should be able to guide their own development, not be dictated to by Annapolis.

HB318: Labor and Employment – Labor Organizations – Right to Work (Delegate W. Miller)

Committee: Economic Matters

Motion: Unfavorable

Why I'd vote no: I wouldn't just vote no, I'd vote "hell no!" Maryland should join the truly progressive ranks of states which allow worker freedom.

HB387: State Retirement and Pension System – Truth in Pension Accounting Act (Delegate Bates)

Committee: Appropriations

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: Similarly to HB239, I think teachers should move to a defined-contribution system. But at least this will present more realistic guidelines until then.

HB558: Maryland Liberty Preservation Act of 2013 (Delegate Dwyer)

Committee: Health and Government Operations

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: Prohibits the state from assisting in detention of those who run afoul of the National Defense Authorization Act, which is ripe for abuse.

HB574: Office of the Inspector General – Establishment (Delegate W. Miller)

Committee: Health and Government Operations

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: First of all, this would be an elected position so it would seem to me voters would elect the person they think best suited to root out waste, fraud, and abuse. (Or they can elect a liberal.) On balance, though, I think this is a good idea.

HB780: State Employees Pension Choice Act (Delegate Aumann)

Committee: Appropriations

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: Why not give teachers and other state employees a choice? From the data provided, it sounds like only a portion would make this decision but they should have it presented.

HB962: Motor Fuel – Consumer Disclosure Requirements (Delegate Bates)

Committee: Economic Matters

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: Is the state afraid they can't bash the oil companies for making a few pennies' profit on a gallon of gas if they see how much they confiscate from each gallon? Funny how we mandate certain information be published but not their own tax information.

HB1043: Criminal Law – Death Penalty – Multiple Murders (Delegate McDonough)

Committee: Judiciary

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: While I don't believe the death penalty should have been abolished at all, it's apparent Delegate McDonough was trying to save one instance where most agree it should have been preserved.

HB1120: Mental Hygiene Administration – Upper Shore Community Mental Health Center – Reopening and Maintenance

Committee: Health and Government Operations

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: Again, this is a regional issue brought up to make a point. The same people who believed those who have mental issues shouldn't be allowed to have a gun (depending on the mental issue, I may be inclined to agree in certain limited cases) won't reopen a facility which could give them the assistance they need.

HB1172: Alcoholic Beverages Sales – Prohibition on Using Self-Scanning Cash Registers (Delegate Valderrama)

Committee: Economic Matters

Motion: Unfavorable

Why I'd vote yes: A solution in search of a problem. Because stores have employees who monitor the self-scan portion of the register area, there's someone there to card those who appear underage. The saddest part is this only failed by two votes.

Senate Committee votes used for the monologue Accountability Project

Note: Except for SB245, all of these bills failed to advance out of committee. Again, a “favorable” motion is for the bill to proceed, while an “unfavorable” motion is to stop consideration.

SB48: Income Tax – Subtraction Modification – Retirement Income (Senator Young)

Committee: Budget and Taxation

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: I'd like to see some sort of precedent for a tax cut in this state, even in this limited fashion.

SB189: Residential Real Property Sales – Property Tax Disclaimer (Senator Shank)

Committee: Judicial Proceedings

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: It seems like the government doesn't like to have its affairs made public. It would have added a 45-word disclaimer to papers alerting home buyers their property taxes may not match the present owner's.

SB210: Elected Officials – Civil Cases – Liability for Costs, Judgments, and Settlements (Taxpayer Protection Act of 2013) (Senator Simonaire)

Committee: Judicial Proceedings

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: This would shift liability from government to elected officials if found guilty or admitting to violating federal, state, or local laws.

SB245: School Buildings – Solar Technology – Design Development Documents (Senator Robey)

Committee: Budget and Taxation

Motion: Favorable with Amendment.

Why I'd vote no: On the surface, this is not a bad idea given the theory that school buildings have a large expanse of flat roofs which could be utilized in such a way. But it need not be a state mandate which has to be followed. I also think the maintenance costs and headaches may outweigh the overall benefits.

SB367: Election Law – Petitions – Confidentiality (Senator Jacobs)

Committee: Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: Since we have a right to a secret ballot, it follows that signers of petitions should have the same right to privacy. This stems from the release of the names of signers to the petition drive to rescind gay marriage in the state by a gay-oriented newspaper.

SB391: Sustainable Growth and Agricultural Protection Act of 2012 – Repeal (Senator Pipkin)

Committee: Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: This is the companion crossfiled bill to HB106, which was also killed in committee.

SB449: Fairness for All Marylanders Act of 2013 (Senator Madaleno)

Committee: Judicial Proceedings

Motion: Favorable with Amendment.

Why I'd vote no: Any time I see the word “fairness” in a bill, my suspicions perk up. This bill would prohibit discrimination due to “gender identity,” but I see this as the blurring of lines between differing genders.

SB469: Business Relief and Tax Fairness Act of 2013 (Senator Pinsky)

Committee: Budget and Taxation

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote yes: There's that "fairness" word again. This time the idea is to install the combined business income tax reporting that liberals have dreamed about for years. Hey, we're already business-unfriendly so why not make it worse?

SB488: Tanning Devices – Use By Minors – Prohibition (Senator Raskin)

Committee: Finance

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote yes: The nanny state reared its ugly head with this bill, which probably never should have seen the light of day. The same people who wouldn't bat an eye at a pregnant minor exercising her right to "choice" voted for this.

SB500: Environment – On-Site Sewage Disposal Systems – Nitrogen Removal Technology – Prohibition (Senator Brinkley)

Committee: Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs

Motion: Unfavorable

Why I'd vote no: This bill proactively prohibits the state from mandating expensive nitrogen removal technology on new septic systems installed outside critical areas. Those homeowners inside critical areas are unaffected.

SB555: Construction Safety and Health Training – Public Work Contracts (Senator Garagiola)

Committee: Finance

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote yes: This is yet another proposed mandate on small business. Employees should be trained in safety procedures but the additional paperwork of making sure every single person involved has completed a thirty-hour course will drive project costs sky-high.

SB756: Living Wage Law – Application and Enforcement (Senator Ramirez)

Committee: Finance

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote yes: The bill would have eliminated an exemption from the living wage law for those who are temporary workers. Personally I'd rather eliminate this ridiculous law altogether.

Legislative Accolades and Admonishments

Each year I give out a series of awards and admonishments to deserving members of the Maryland General Assembly based on their voting records. The list of this year's winners will be enhanced by a list of prior winners, with those in bold being active members of the Maryland General Assembly.

D. Page Elmore RINO Hunttee Award

Page was a nice guy but sided far too often with the Democrats in his last four years in the House of Delegates. After Elmore received this admonishment four straight years, I decided to name the award after him because I often thought of him as someone who tried to blur the distinction between parties.

But for the third year in a row, the 2013 winner actually underperformed Page at his worst; in fact he voted the wrong way a staggering 80% of the time! Can we please primary him?

The Republican with (by far) the lowest rating, who bent over backward to party with the other party, is Delegate Robert Costa.

Previous "winners": D. Page Elmore (2007-10), Robert Costa (2011-12)

Top (Blue) Dog Award

This award is given to the Democrat who ranks the highest in my ratings, showing signs that there is a small but rarely-seen centrist element to the Maryland Democratic Party. It's the way the aisle should be crossed.

The 2013 winner has now won five years in a row, representing a district which elects both parties. Delegate John Wood, Jr. has now won or shared the award six times.

Previous winners: John Wood, Jr. (2007, 2009-12), Joseph Minnick (2008), Kevin Kelly (2007-08)

Legislative All-Stars

Each year I give this award to those legislators who either rank atop their legislative body and/or score above 90 on the ratings. If winners have won before, previous years are noted in parentheses.

The 2013 winners are Senator E.J. Pipkin (a first-time winner), and Delegates Joseph Boteler (2008, 2011-12), Mark Fisher (a first-time winner), Jay Jacobs (a first-time winner), Susan Krebs (2012), Susan McComas (a first-time winner), Warren Miller (2009, 2011-12), Tony O'Donnell (2007, 2009), Charles Otto (2012), Neil Parrott (2011), Justin Ready (a first-time winner), and Nancy Stocksdale (a first-time winner).

Previous winners still serving: Senators Joe Getty (2011), Nancy Jacobs (2011), and Christopher Shank (2008, 2011) as well as Delegates Kathy Afzali (2012), Gail Bates (2011), John Cluster (2012), Don Dwyer (2009), William Frank (2012), Glen Glass (2012), Stephen Hershey (2012), Tony McConkey (2012), Pat McDonough (2009), Tony O'Donnell (2007, 2009), Kelly Schulz (2012), Michael Smigiel (2012), and Kathy Szeliga (2012).

And finally...the Legislator of the Year

It was a tie atop the standings again as three legislators received 96 points – each of them missing a different vote but getting 24 out of 25 correct. The one who won missed on the pregnancy vote, which is troublesome but less so than making a cell phone violation a primary offense or consigning Maryland to 40 percent forest cover.

For that reason, and based on lifetime score, the 2013 Legislator of the Year is Delegate Wayne Norman.

He joins a roster of previous winners which includes now-Congressman Andy Harris (2007), Anthony O'Donnell (2008), Joseph Boteler (2009), Don Dwyer (2010), Michael Hough (2011), and Edward Reilly (2012).

Conclusion

To be perfectly honest, this year's General Assembly session was a disaster. There were 15 bills pushed by Martin O'Malley, and either through the House, the Senate, or both, he got them. Gone were the death penalty and reasonable restrictions on firearms, but we instead got an extension of the sales tax to gasoline and a boondoggle called offshore wind.

Sadly, a vast majority of the General Assembly chose this year to underperform their past records. In fact, it was so bad in the Senate that I was forced to use a unanimous vote because it was on a budget bill I feel is important to include each year. To me, this was the year of the "gutless Senate."

Let me explain a little about the process. Each year I probably go through 200-300 bills that I think may have an effect on the state, but most pass unanimously. I prefer bills where there was spirited debate on both sides, and in the House I probably had about 75 bills like that – but when I checked the Senate vote, in many cases it was a depressing 46- or 47-0. There were perhaps 40 bills which I could have used but I pared it down to the final 22.

The same is true in some committees. I generally have an embarrassment of riches in the judiciary and environmental committees, but it's really hard to find good bills from the financial and appropriations end.

Last December, when I wrapped the 2012 edition, I predicted there would be fewer controversial bills because of the referendum. Instead, we had hotly-debated gun laws and the death penalty repeal, but neither made it through the referendum process, sad to say. So Annapolis liberals may be emboldened for next year, particularly ones leaving the General Assembly.

By this time next year, we will know who will be facing each other on the November ballot, and before the next legislative session is over we will know who will be running for what as the filing deadline was moved from April to February. This will make the next edition of the mAP more interesting as I see who's voting in a manner they feel befits a run for higher office and who throws caution to the wind because they're lame ducks. It also means I'll be rushing to have it ready in June for the primary.

Last year I closed with this paragraph:

But no longer can Annapolis liberals, or conservatives who forget where they come from and reach across the aisle to work with the majority in search of meager crumbs, be assured that the work they did two to three years before an election wouldn't come back to haunt them when they return to the ballot. It's my job to keep them honest and as I said above I'm not backing down.

I'm still here and just as feisty as ever. Let this be a guide to knowing which legislators need to be eliminated from the General Assembly and which ones to emulate. My Legislative All-Stars and Legislator of the Year would be a good case study for the latter.

Accountability charts for both the House and Senate begin on the next page.
